

Health and Safety Committee Charter

The Home Builders Federation (HBF) members are committed to continuous improvement. The core aims of the Charter are to drive a positive health and safety culture within the home building industry through agreeing and setting ‘standards’ that meet or exceed statutory requirements.

In particular, members of the Home Builders Health and Safety Committee are committed to;

- Collaborative working.
- Developing and sharing detailed safe working practises with our workforce, subcontractors, and suppliers.
- Identifying accident and incident trends to develop safe working practices and prevent recurrence.
- Sharing success and lessons learnt [share accident and incident information following the publication of any safety alert, newsflash or health and safety communication so that collective action can be taken].
- Submitting accident /incident data in a timely manner.
- Working with enforcement authorities and liaising with other organisations to promote awareness of health and safety.
- Striving to implement the HBF ‘standards’ that are set and adhere to the key points/ outputs of the published guidance notes.
- Allowing time for committee representatives to participate in meetings and undertake assigned responsibilities.
- Providing timely feedback to the committee.
